

Where to place multiple Kestrel 5400 Heat Stress Trackers?

When monitoring WBGT, the Kestrel 5400 should always be placed in the conditions most closely matching those where the people (or animals) are located. Along with temperature and humidity, sun, shade, wind, elevation, and surrounding surfaces all impact the micro-climate and heat stress likelihood, so pay particular attention to matching these conditions.